

F.Y.I.: HOUSING

You have the right to safe and decent housing. In most circumstances, the housing must be:

- Inspected: Each year before anyone moves in, the building must be inspected and the boss must post the inspection permit.
- Safe: The building must be safe, with no electrical problems and have clean water, etc.
- Clean: There should not be any garbage, the bathrooms must be clean, and there must be enough storage for your food.

If there are charges or expenses for the housing, that information must be posted.

You should help keep the building and grounds clean. Report any problems to your boss or camp supervisor, and allow government inspectors to enter your quarters to inspect the building.

Discrimination against you because of your race, national origin, and some other reasons is illegal.
